

Over the Ridge

Vol.1

From the Principal's Desk

Ridge Valley School has spectacularly demonstrated that no matter what the challenge is, we will face it with collaboration and optimism.

Even when COVID was at its peak work never stopped at our school. With a mix of remote working and the usual workspace coming together, we stayed afloat and flourished. Our students and teachers had their own trysts with technology and managed to sustain a continuity in learning.

Over the years, Ridge Valley has evolved into a progressive institution with a difference that has pioneered diverse initiatives, programmes and policies; and affected the lives of the learning community, both nationally and internationally. Yet it has never basked in its past glories and continues to innovate in its onward march. Therefore, it is very heartening and fulfilling to share its accomplishments with the Ridgean family.

The parents, teachers and students are all a community of learning. May we together create a partnership of collective understanding.

I look forward to working with you with a positive affirmation.

Thank you .

Warm regards,

Ms. Nidhi Tewari

From the Chairperson's desk

I welcome you back to another glorious session.

We have been busy for the last few months reviewing and restructuring the architecture of Ridge Valley. The coming months will see changes from furniture to furnishings, sensorial spaces to sports arenas, from learning laboratories to talking walls, from maker labs to science innovative areas, from reading corners to active engaging niches. All places, that children inhabit to make learning fun. The entire school is being transformed into a transdisciplinary art gallery of aesthetics, science, performing arts, humanities, spirituality and a love for learning.

New staff has been taken on from a variety of eminent schools within the NCR. We need to rework learning systems at all levels, so that the content transacted will be deeper and will not only assess teachers once a year but will become a holistic practice. The Teachers Training Academy which is a Pan India and Asia organization has been hired to identify learning teaching gaps in teachers and students in order to support and scaffold new pedagogies. Continuous Professional Development is taking place and will continue consistently as the school evolves. This will bring in innovative strategies, heightened technological interventions and Education for life which is a value based spiritually uplifting program.

Assessment models are being designed around teacher observations and classroom engagement.

A new 'VCare' therapeutic space is being inaugurated by Dr. Jitender Nagpal, eminent physiatrist for children with learning disabilities. This center will operate in the afternoon between 3:00 pm – 6:00 pm. We have hired an Occupational Therapist, Speech Therapist and Special Needs head. This new center is accessible to all students in Gurgaon and NCR who are alternatively abled.

Let us reflect on the idea that education, which identifies emerging trends and critical uncertainties within and outside its own boundaries, fosters growth. A multicultural education system has to often let go of traditional attitudes that may be outdated and acknowledge that good ideas can come from anyone and anywhere. Any vision of education if it is to have a chance of success must inculcate a more inclusive humanistic vision, which practices care and compassion along with learning.

Keep the faith!
